

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my keen interest in the Unity Developer position currently available with Paper. As an experienced game developer with a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science, I am confident that I have the technical expertise, collaborative skills, and educational background necessary to excel in this role.

In my previous work as a Unity Developer, I have honed my ability to maintain and improve existing applications, develop and deploy games at an industry-level scale, and optimize performance across different devices and platforms. I have also gained valuable experience in troubleshooting technical issues and applying gamification principles to engage and delight users.

My familiarity with educational software development, as well as my passion for creating engaging and effective designs, make me an ideal candidate for this position. Furthermore, my ability to collaborate effectively with designers, stay up-to-date with the latest trends and technologies, and provide constructive feedback to team members aligns well with the responsibilities outlined in the job description.

I am excited about the opportunity to join the Paper team and contribute to the development of their unique math platform. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to discussing my qualifications and experience in further detail.

Sincerely,
Rushil Bhatia